

ANNUAL REPORT OF WOMEN'S STUDY UNIT (2014-15)

As extension activity of CBCSS Programme

During the academic year 2013-14 eleven students opted Women's study as their extension activity to fulfill the CBCS Programme. Four girl students from BA Islamic History and seven girl students from B.Sc Polymer Chemistry joined the Programme.

They engaged in activities like collecting media reports on women's issues and compiling a media File based on it, preparing posters to highlight problems faced by Women in the society. They also held discussions on the burning issues raging at the time related to contemporary events and the controversial women issues, etc. They shared and made notes on Women's Laws, Rights and recently implemented acts like Domestic Violence Preventive Act, 2005etc. Every Friday afternoon the volunteers had to report to the teacher Co-ordinator and attend meetings to discuss and monitor the progress of work and to plan the future activities.

In the final phase they were assigned a topic for a survey research which has some contemporary relevance and each student chose a different area of study for the Social Survey, preparing exclusive questionnaires under the guidance of the teacher co-ordinator for the purpose. They conducted a detailed social survey by personally meeting each and every person to collect data. Finally they presented a detailed survey report on the topic selected, and submitted it to the institution along with their insightful suggestions and recommendations.

The volunteer's of the Women's Study Unit also organised various programmes to celebrate Women's Day which was commemorated on 11.03.2014 and inaugurated by Smt. Ananda Kusumam the former President of Vithura Panchayat and a Social activist. The Students also organized a poster exhibition on the pathetic plight of women in our society, designed on culturally disparate women issues, hand- picked by them, based on their sensibilities.

The list of girls who successfully completed women's studies as their Extension activity of CBCSS Programme by submitting Survey Research Reports on topics selected by each for the Social Survey is as listed below:

INTERNATIONAL WOMEN'S DAY CELEBRATION: 2014-15

The international women's day was commemorated on 11-03-2014 in the institution with a sober function in the morning session and with many activities and festivities in the afternoon session. The guest of honour was the noted social activist Smt. AnandhaKusmam, who was the former president of Vithura Panchayath. In the presence of the students and faculty she formally inaugurated the day's celebration with a politically charged speech highlighting the huge contribution of the leftist political parties in empowering the rural women of Kerala through Kudumbasree movement. The member of the faculty present on dias enlightened the audience with valuable insight on how to stay safe from the many harms looming around in the society in the modern times. Prizes were distributed to deserving students for their excellence in various categories of artistic and literary output. The members WSU tries to paint the pathetic plate of women in the various ties of society which expressed their sensibilities on the cultural disarray of myriad women's issue.

The afternoon session was vibrant and vividly zestful by the brilliant array of cultural events designed and presented to entertain the audience as well as to express their creative spirit.
